BRIEF ABSTRACT OF LETTER.

Suggests Mr. A.N. Raghavachar being required to pass the departmental examinations in Civil, P.W. Hdy. and some general departmental qualifications have been prescribed for all of them so that there may be no difficulty in transferring them from one department to another according to the exigencies of the service. It is therefore doubtful whether these qualifications may be dispensed with in the case of Mr. A. N. Raghavachar, as suggested by the Comptroller.

2. According to Rule VIII of the Civil Service Rules of 6th January 1913, probationary Asst. Comrs are to pass these Service Examns during the first two years after appointment & then the special examinations required for the particular Depts to which they are attached. In the case of probationers intended for employment in the Account Dept., the rules require them to be trained in the Comptroller's Office in the third year of their probation & after they have passed the Local Service Examinations, & two years is prescribed in which to pass the Departmental Accounts Examinations.

3. The Comptroller states that in the case of an officer attached to his Dept.

the qualifications required for that Dept., being more essential than those prescribed for the general line, should be given preference to the latter & accordingly suggests Mr. A being allowed Mr. Raghavachar to pass the departmental examinations in Civil, P.W. & Rly. Accounts first without prejudice to his Confirmation & future prospects.
A.M. 2/3/14.

The Comptroller, presuming that Mr. A.N. Raghavachar, Probationary Assistant Commissioner, is intended for his Department, proposes that he should first be made to pass the Departmental Examinations in Civil, Public Works and Railway Accounts, before he can be confirmed and that he should either be exempted from passing the Departmental tests of ~~Civil~~ Criml, Civil, Revenue, Registration and Accounts examinations or should be allowed to take them up after he passes the Financial Departmental Examinations. He also suggests that his confirmation and future prospects should not be prejudicially affected by his passing the Accounts Departmental Examinations instead of or before the Local Service Examinations. Under Rule 8 of the Civil Service order of January 1913 a Probationary Assistant Commissioner should pass within within two years an examination in riding, Departmental Service Examinations and an Examination in Kannada if that is not ~~their~~ his optional subject. In addition to the above, Probationers intended for employment in the Accounts Department will, during the 3rd year, be required to appear for and pass the Departmental Examinations prescribed for the Accounts Department.

3. As a sort of recompense ~~of~~ for having to pass additional examinations, Government have, in the orders revising the scale of Gazetted Officers of the Comptroller's office, sanctioned the grant of a local allowance of Rs.50 immediately on passing the Departmental Examinations, although they may not have passed the Mysore Local Tests.

4. It will thus be seen that the rules are clear and that the Officer's promotion as an Asst Commissioner, which he primarily is, rests upon his passing the Local Tests and not upon his passing the Financial Departmental Tests.

5. The Comptroller's suggestion, if it is decided to keep Mr. N. Raghavachar in the Account Department, cannot be supported unless the rules passed after due consideration are changed. So long as the Accounts Department is included in the Cadre of Assistant Commissioners and does not form a separate service of its own, the necessity for being [illegible] question of extending the period during which [illegible] Higher Grade, [illegible], Probationary Assistant Commissioner, attached to the Comptroller's office, has to pass the Local Service Examinations.

ORDER OF THE COUNCIL.

The Probationer may be called to pay special attention

Submitted to His Highness.

These papers relate to the Comptroller's recommendation that Mr. A. Narasimha Raghavachar, Probationery Assistant Commissioner attached to his Office, should first be required to pass the Financial Department Examinations and that, if he cannot be altogether exempted from passing the Local Service Examinations, he may be allowed to postpone passing them, without prejudice to either his confirmation or future prospects.

2. Under the Civil Service Rules of January 1913, a Probationary Assistant Commissioner should pass during the first two years after his appointment:-

(i) an examination in riding;

(ii) Departmental service Examinations required according to the rules in force for the time being; and

(iii) an examination in Kannada in case it is not his optional language in a University or other Public examination.

In addition to the above, a Probationer intended for employment in the Accounts Department has to pass during the third year, the Departmental examinations which may be specified from time to time.

3. The matter was discussed at the Council meeting on the 20th April 1914 and the Council are of opinion that Mr. A.Narasimharaghavachar may be asked to pay special attention to qualify himself in the Civil, Public Works and Railway Accounts without giving up his studies for the Local Service Examinations and that, if it is found

found that before the expiry of the period of his probation, he cannot pass these as well as the general examinations prescribed, the question of giving him an extension of time for passing the latter without prejudice to his confirmation may then be considered.

4. I recommend that this suggestion of the Council may be graciously approved.

SIR,

With reference to Government Order No.G.6500 dated 17th Febru 1914 posting Mr. A. N. Raghavacnar, Probationary Assistant Commissione to this office, I have the honor to state that I understand that he is to be regarded as an officer to be trained specially for the work of t Accounts Department with a view to eventually absorb him in this offic It is therefore necessary for the officer to get himself fully qualified for this office by passing the departmental examinations in Civil, Public Works and Railway Accounts as early as possible and for this purpose I beg to suggest

(1) that he should be asked to pass these examinations as early as possible within the next two years,

(2) that he should be exempted from passing the obligatory Local Service Examinations required for the general line or that he should pass those examinations after he has fully qualified himself for the Accounts Department,

(3) that his confirmation and future prospects should not be prejudicially affected by his passing the Accounts Departmental Examina tions instead of or before the Mysore Local Service Examinations for the general line.

I make the above suggestions because according to the Civil Account Code a probationer in the Accounts Department is to receive training for at least two years in an Account Office and pass the Departmental Examinations before he can be regarded as a fully qualified Accounts Officer while, as per the revised Civil Service Rules of January 1913, a Probationary Assistant Commissioner is not entitled to confirmation until he passes a number of General Examinations. But in the case of an officer intended specially for the Accounts Office the account qualifications being more necessary than the qualifications for the general line, they must be given preference and the others must either be dispensed with or postponed. Unless this is done it will take him four years to get qualified for this office-two years for the general line and two more for the accounts Department not to speak of the great trouble and labour entailed on the probationer in ~~having~~ being forced to pass both sets of examinations. I solicit very early orders in this matter so that he may know without delay what qualifications he should aim at securing first. I may say that until he gets fully qualified for this office he cannot be counted upon as a "Pucca" Account Officer and it may become necessary for the Government to appoint some one else to maintain the sanctioned gazetted strength of this office if he does not qualify himself by passing the accounts Examinations soon.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

Comptroller.
